

SHAVINDU RASHMIKA

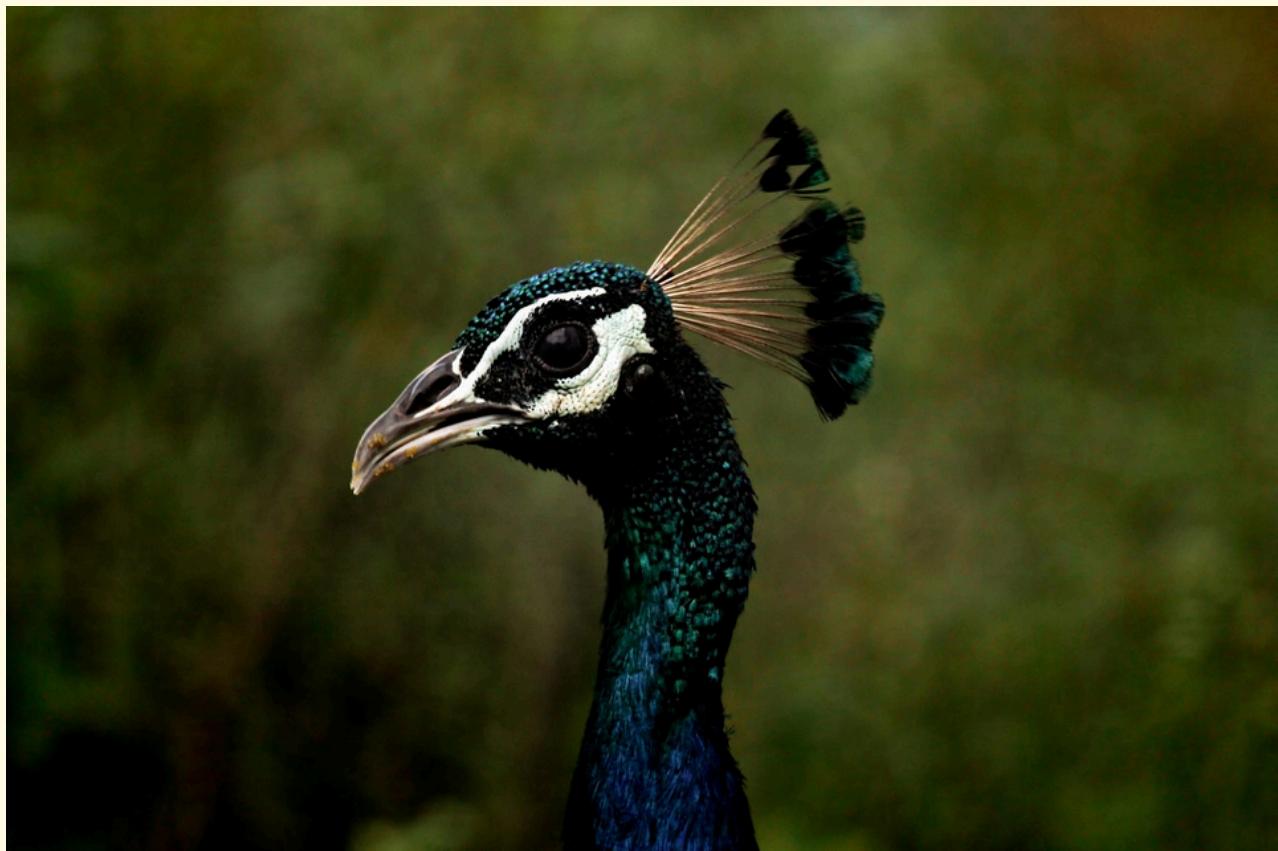

A photograph showing a dense forest of green trees covering a hillside. The forest is thick and varied in shades of green. In the foreground, there's a dark, possibly rocky or sandy area that appears to be a shoreline. The background is filled with the tops of the trees, creating a textured, layered effect. The lighting suggests it might be late afternoon or early morning, with some sunlight filtering through the canopy.

Wildlife & Nature Photography Collection

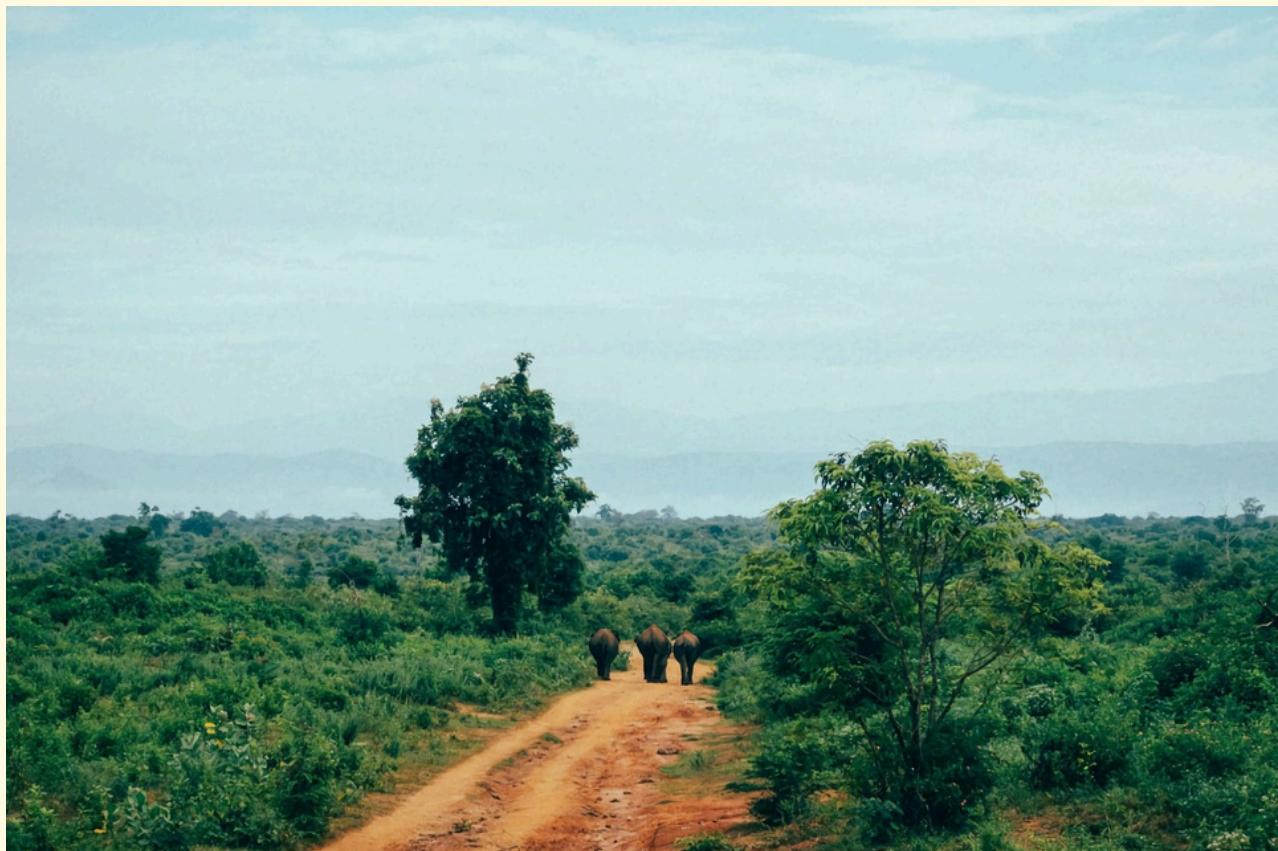

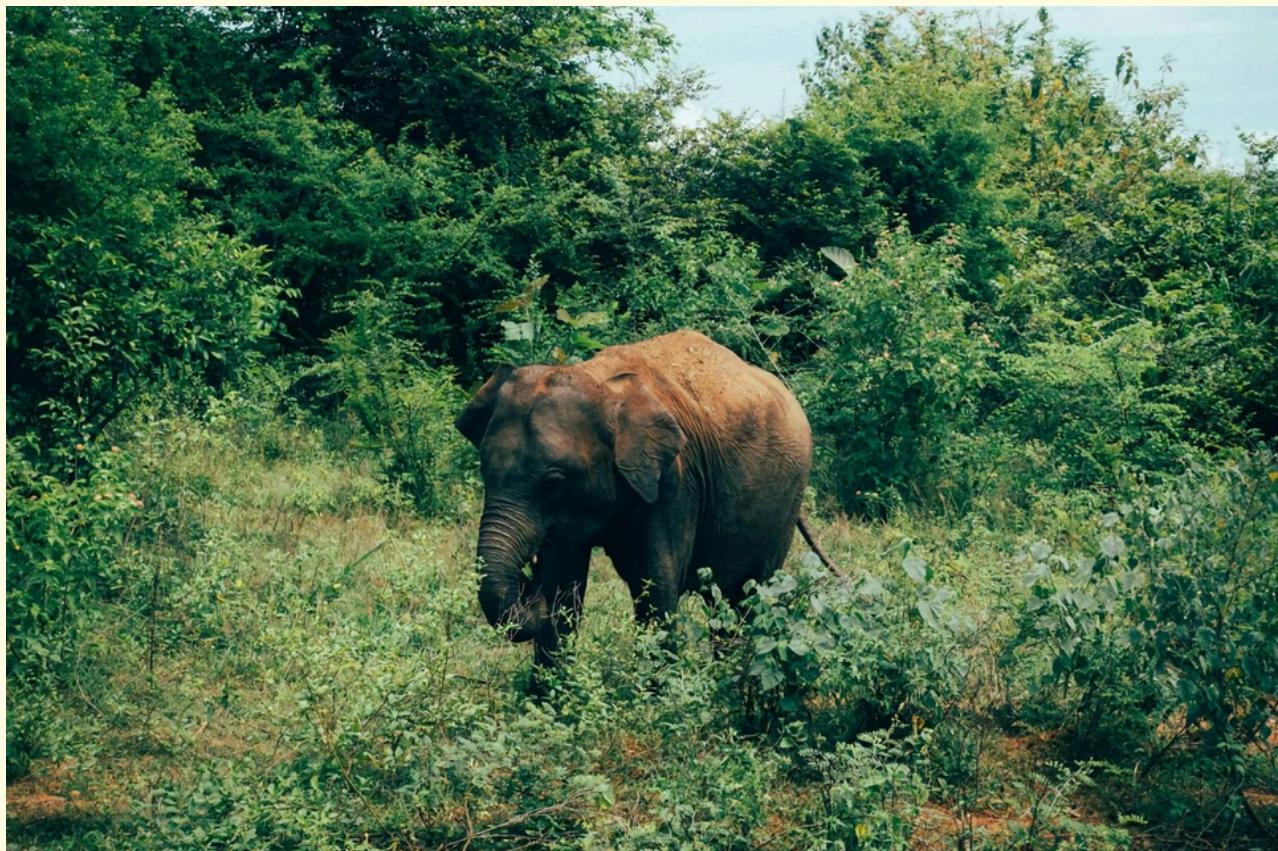

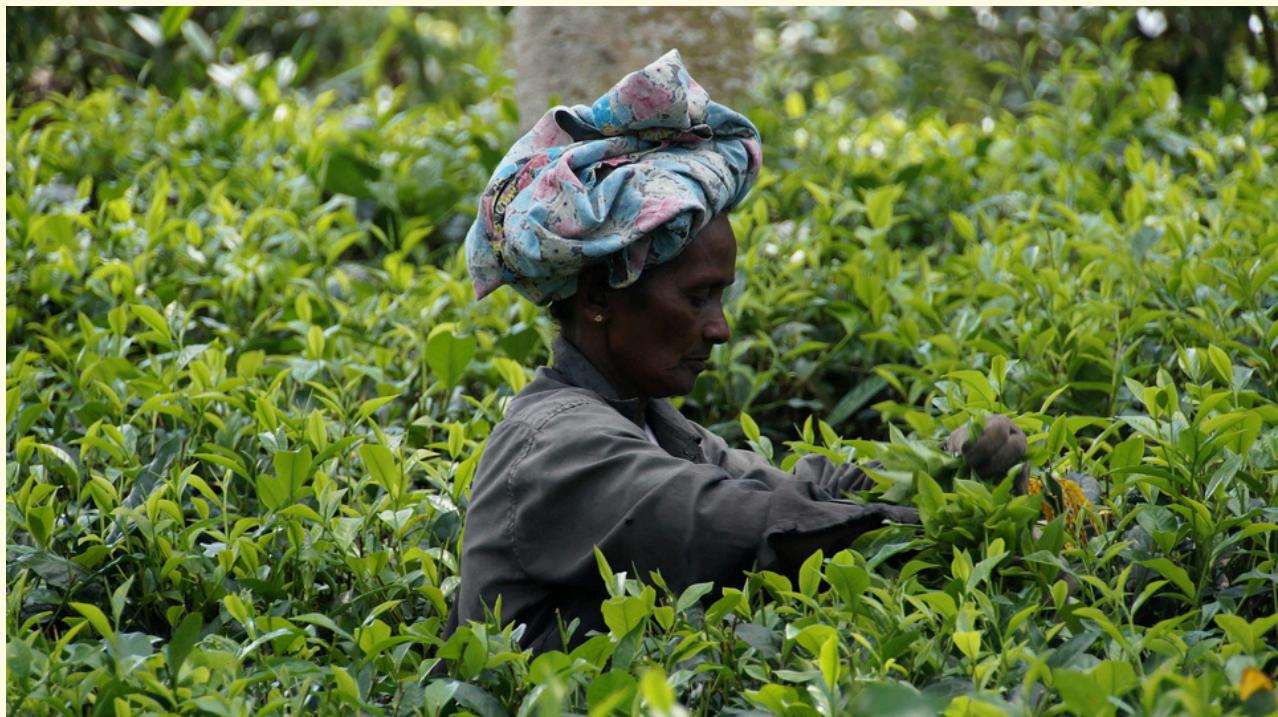

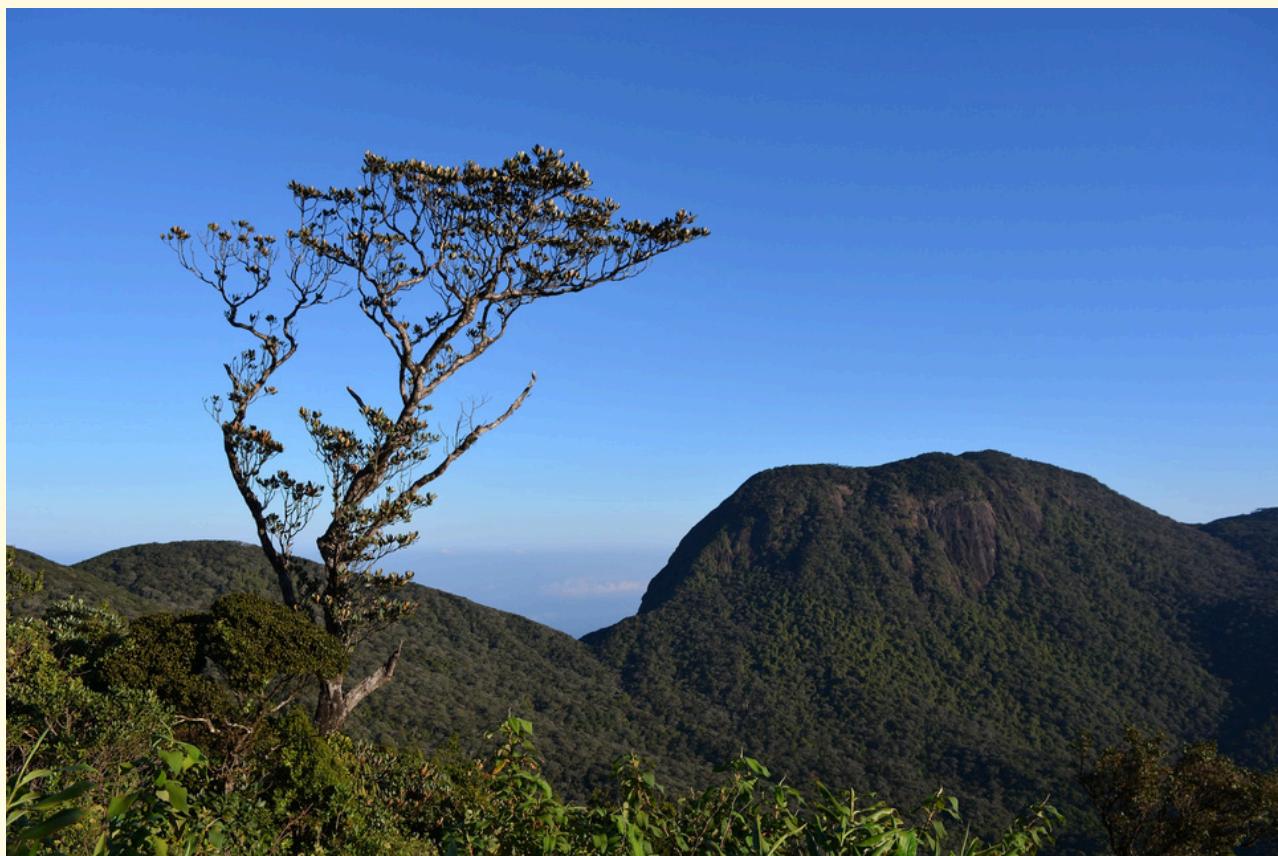

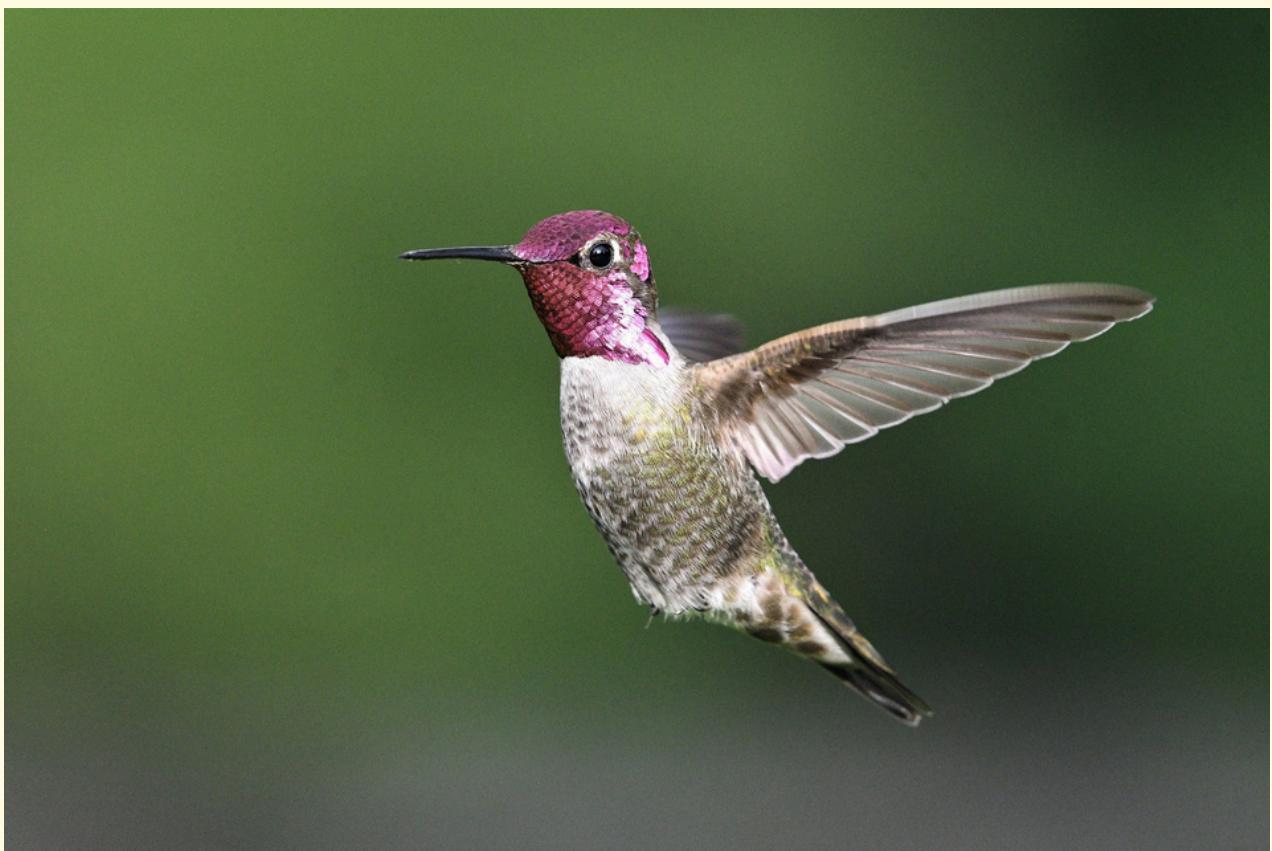

THANHYOU.